Dear Friends:

One of possible last phrases said by Jesus at the crucifixion is believed to be, “My God, My God, why have you forsaken me?” (Matt. 27:46). During this period of international crisis, I am certain that people have asked the exact same question. In addition, it is likely that this question is complemented with feelings of doubt, abandonment, and distress. The beauty of the Christian tradition is that these feelings may last for a time but are dissolved by the glory of Easter morning. The Miracle of Easter stands as lasting proof that God does not abandon even in the darkest hour.

On behalf of Assumption University, I wish you and your families a blessed and healthy Easter season. May your hearts be filled with hope, your minds calmed with peace, and your souls strengthened by faith throughout the year.

Sincerely Yours,
